8) Our refund policy is as follows:

A student can request a 100% refund up to 10 days after a term has begun (per the dates listed on our academic calendar, including the start day). After that, the student can request a 75% refund anytime between the 11th day and the end of the 2nd week of the term (midnight of the 14th calendar day from the listed start day of the term, including the start day), and a 50% anytime between the beginning of the 3rd week to the middle of the term. Between the middle of the term but before the last two weeks of the term, the student can request a 75% refund. We ask that no refund be requested during the last two weeks of the term. These deadlines are to ensure that our faculty members receive proper and full payment for their duties. If a student feels that he or she has a case for a full refund in good faith (for example, because of a documented hospital stay or extended illness), then the student can initiate a chargeback through PayPal.
